

Saw Mill Capital Announces Two Additions to Its Investment Team

Briarcliff Manor, New York, September 14, 2005 – Saw Mill Capital, a middle-market private equity investment firm, is pleased to announce two additions to its growing team of investment professionals. Scott Rivard, Vice President and Jason Mueller, Associate both joined the firm this summer.

“Scott and Jason are tremendous and complementary additions to our team,” said Howard Unger, Managing Partner at Saw Mill Capital. “They are both uniquely experienced and bring an enthusiasm for private equity which will immediately add value to our firm.”

Scott joins Saw Mill Capital after four years at Capital Resource Partners as an Associate and Investment Manager, where he was responsible for sourcing, executing, and managing private equity investments in the manufacturing and business services sectors. Prior to joining CRP, Scott was a Financial Analyst in the natural resource group at Credit Suisse First Boston, where he advised clients on mergers, acquisitions, and corporate finance transactions. Scott graduated with an MBA from the Kellogg School of Management, and a BA in Economics from Middlebury College.

Jason is coming to Saw Mill Capital with previous experience as an Investment Banking Associate at Oppenheimer & Co., where he advised clients on mergers and acquisitions and corporate finance transactions in the manufacturing, business services and commercial banking industries. Jason graduated with a BA in economics and computer science from Boston University.

Saw Mill Capital is a private equity investment firm based in Westchester, NY, focused on investing in middle-market manufacturing and service companies in partnership with proven management teams. Saw Mill Capital builds upon strong relationships and best business practices to achieve maximum shareholder value.
