

Saw Mill Capital Announces a Team Addition

Briarcliff Manor, New York, May 19, 2009 – Saw Mill Capital is pleased to announce that Jason Mueller will be rejoining the Saw Mill team as a Vice President after completing his MBA at Columbia University. In this role, he will be involved in sourcing and executing investments, as well as working closely with portfolio companies to achieve their business objectives.

“Jason was a valuable team member prior to going to graduate school, and we are excited that he will be rejoining us as we continue to grow our investment team”, stated Howard Unger, Managing Partner at Saw Mill Capital. “We believe that the current market conditions provide incredible opportunities for both our existing portfolio and for new investments, and we are pleased to be adding an experienced and proven investor like Jason who can move at the pace needed in the current environment”, Mr. Unger added.

Prior to business school, Jason worked for Saw Mill Capital as an Associate, in which role he supported both new investment activity and portfolio management. Prior to Saw Mill Capital, he was an Investment Banking Associate at Oppenheimer & Co. Inc., where he advised clients on mergers, acquisitions and corporate finance transactions. Jason has a B.A. in Economics and Computer Science from Boston University and an MBA from Columbia University.
